2008 Summer Music Camp

Meal Information for Music Camp Dorm Residents or for commuters who may wish to eat in the Student Center

Most meals for camp dorm residents are purchased by each student with a daily debit card. Because of the way in which we are billed for these meals, it is important that you understand how these cards can be used and why we have them set up as they are.

1. Each music camp dorm resident is issued a dining debit card at registration on Sunday to use in most food venues in the Student Center for the week.
2. Since we are billed for the maximum amount placed on the card for each day whether it is used for purchases or not, it is wasteful and expensive for us to put more on the card each day than will likely be used by most students.
3. All three meals are to be eaten using your debit card at the Student Center, you will have $15 on the card. If you want to eat more than what this buys, you will have to supplement the card with your own cash. This helps us keep the overall cost of the camp for all students down. For those who wish to eat either larger quantities or more expensive selections, personal funds will have to be used. (Students who use their cards at Starbucks or similar places will run out of money fast.)
4. In order to give you an idea of cost, here is just a sample of some the prices we found at the Student Center recently:
